

NATIONWIDE RETIREMENT INSTITUTE®

Health care

— Plan for costs in retirement —

3 OUT OF 4 AMERICANS say health care costs getting out of control is one of their top fears in retirement.¹

Plan for your health care costs

Health care costs are one of the largest expenses in retirement. Many people don't understand the risks these costs pose to their retirement plan, so they aren't preparing for them.

Medicare and retiree health insurance benefits may cover a portion of these expenses, but many people will pay a significant amount of their retirement health care costs out of their own pocket.

Add to this challenge the rising cost of health care and the likelihood of needing long-term care, and it becomes clear that planning for health care costs is important for achieving financial security in retirement.

Out-of-pocket health care cost estimates for a 65-year-old couple can reach

$270,000 – $325,000

during retirement.²

¹ "2020 Health Care Consumer Survey," conducted by The Harris Poll on behalf of Nationwide Retirement Institute (July 2020).

² "A Bit of Good News During the Pandemic: Savings Medicare Beneficiaries Need for Health Expenses Decrease in 2020," Paul Fronstin and J VanDerhei, EBRI (May 28, 2020).

Nationwide® is committed to helping people prepare for and live in retirement with guidance from financial professionals. As part of this commitment, we're talking about important topics related to financial well-being in retirement, such as the cost of health care.

You and your financial professional can use this guide as you assess your retirement health care needs and design a financial plan to help you prepare for the costs you could face.

What to look for inside

HEALTH CARE CHALLENGES

How health care costs add to the risks you face in retirement Page 4

MEDICARE AND LONG-TERM CARE

Why it's important to have a plan Page 5

MAKE A PERSONALIZED PLAN

What to discuss with your financial professional to put a plan in place Page 6

Health care challenges

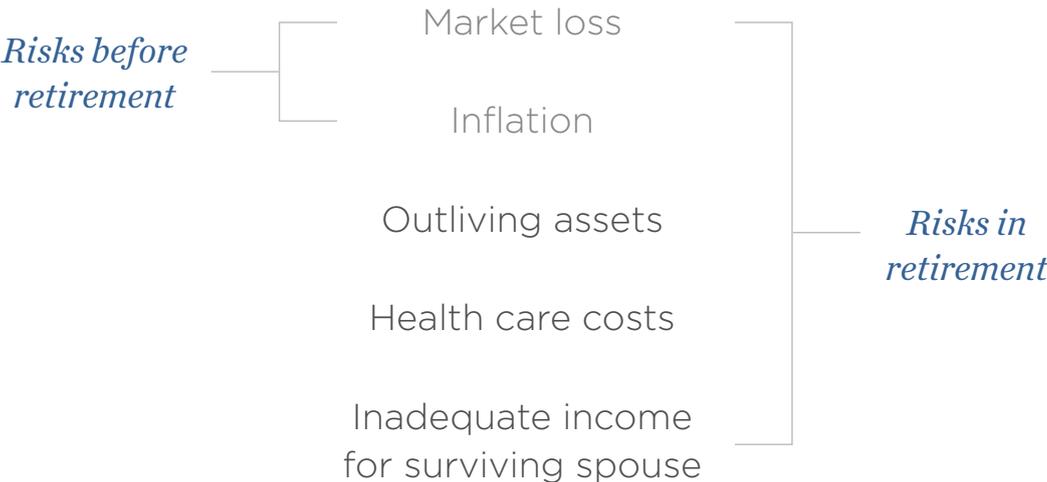

Retirement can be a rewarding time, but it does have challenges. Among the biggest challenges you'll face is the cost of health care.

During the years when you're planning and saving for retirement, you're constantly managing risks to your financial plan, such as inflation and potential market declines.

But once you retire, these risks don't vanish. Inflation and market risk are amplified and new risks are introduced — for example, outliving your savings and leaving less money for your spouse or other family members.

Among these new risks you face in retirement is the cost of health care.

Health care is a big-ticket expense for most retirees, especially with rising costs and the likelihood of needing long-term care. If you're not prepared for these expenses, they can put pressure on other aspects of your retirement financial plan and limit the choices you can make later in life.

Medicare and long-term care

Today's Medicare program

Signing up for Medicare is one of the first major decisions you'll make as you reach retirement, and many people are surprised to learn there are costs associated with the program. Even after paying into Medicare throughout your career, once you're enrolled, you'll face monthly premiums and cost-sharing provisions.

Long-term care comes at a cost

Long-term care is a progression of care options ranging from informal assistance provided by friends and family members to full-time professional care provided in a residential facility. Today, most long-term care services are provided in the home.³

With proper planning, you can ensure that you and your family members retain the power of choice in a long-term care scenario.

..... A PERSON AT AGE 65

has a 70% chance of needing some type of long-term care during retirement.⁴

.....

³ U.S. Department of Health & Human Services, Administration on Aging, LongTermCare.gov (Oct. 15, 2020).

⁴ "What is the Lifetime Risk of Needing and Receiving Long-Term Services and Supports?" Office of the Assistant Secretary for Planning and Evaluation, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (April 4, 2019).

Make a personalized plan

Now that you know more about the factors to consider, it's time to start actively planning. If you're already working with a financial professional to save for retirement, you can discuss health care with them, too.

How Nationwide and your financial professional can help

- Use the Nationwide Health Care/Long-Term Care Cost Assessment to estimate your expected costs
- Refine your retirement financial plan around this estimate
- Plan for long-term care based on your and your family's needs using the Health Care/Long-Term Care Cost Assessment
- Cover gaps with new funding strategies

The Nationwide® Health Care/Long-Term Care Cost Assessment takes information you provide about your health history and family background and compares it with current trends in health care utilization. The report you receive shows you a personalized view of your anticipated health care costs, including long-term care, throughout retirement.

Your personalized assessment can help you and your financial professional better understand how expected health care costs can affect your retirement and enable you to develop a plan around your and your family's specific needs.

Clients

Talk with your financial professional about your health care decisions and how they fit within the scope of your overall retirement plan.

Financial professionals

For more information, call your wholesaler or the Nationwide Retirement Institute Planning Team at 1-877-245-0763.

The Nationwide Retirement Institute® provides practical thought leadership through timely insights and education, client-ready tools and consultative support. Our comprehensive approach helps financial professionals, plan sponsors and clients break down and simplify the most complex retirement challenges.

For more information, visit nationwidefinancial.com/healthcare.

Nationwide®
is on your side

This material is not a recommendation to buy or sell a financial product or to adopt an investment strategy. Investors should discuss their specific situation with their financial professional.

The content of this brochure is provided for informational purposes only and should not be construed as investment, tax or legal advice. The information provided is based on current laws, which are subject to change at any time, and has not been endorsed by any government agency.

The information collected on the Personalized Health Care/Long-Term Care Cost Assessment will be kept confidential and used to provide an estimate of a client's potential health care costs in retirement. The estimate is based on a client's specific financial situation and goals, as well as their current overall health condition. The client's financial situation and health condition, may change over time, and this may affect their future costs. Please keep in mind that the estimates within the assessment are for hypothetical purposes only and are not guaranteed.

Nationwide Investment Services Corporation (NISC), member FINRA, Columbus, Ohio. Nationwide Retirement Institute is a division of NISC.

Nationwide, the Nationwide N and Eagle, Nationwide is on your side and Nationwide Retirement Institute are service marks of Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company.
© 2022 Nationwide

NFM-9902AO.11 (01/22)